Analisis

Antes de la creacion de los indices: las consultas hechas para testear el rendimiento de la base de datos arrojaron un tiempo de ejecucion de 22 milisegundos.

Despues de la creacion de los indices el tiempo el tiempo de ejecucion paso a ser de 4 milisegundos

1. Clustered vs NonClustered El Clustered es la tabla: los datos viven físicamente ordenados por esa clave. Solo puede haber uno. El NonClustered es una estructura aparte que guarda la clave más un puntero al registro real; puede haber varios.
2. Demasiados índices Cada INSERT, UPDATE o DELETE tiene que actualizar todos los índices de la tabla. A más índices, más costo en escrituras.
3. Consultas que más se benefician Filtros exactos (WHERE col = x), rangos (BETWEEN), ORDER BY sobre columnas indexadas y JOIN por columnas indexadas. Las que devuelven la mayoría de la tabla no se benefician; ahí un scan sigue siendo más rápido.
